*Peak
Discovery
Description*

PEAK DISCOVERY is a short and direct wake-up call (12 hours of instruction). It presents the reality of the adult world by guiding students to discover the path to a reasonable lifestyle. They'll create a detailed budget for all the major expenses in a normal life, take a quick survey to identify their preferred job and career options, compare the earning power of those jobs to their lifestyle budget, and discover how their education and personal choices will qualify them for those jobs. The messages are, "Your choices create your future. In that future, education, work, money, and lifestyle are all connected – and you decide." Peak Discovery is ideal for in-school suspension, expanding curriculum for life skills and consumer math, detention programs, and situations where students can benefit from additional commitment to learning.

*Peak
Choices
Curriculum*

Peak Choices: Awareness and Deterrence Curriculum Outline

SEVEN HOURS of Instruction:

Contemplate Your Behaviors

*– Next 3
pages...*

What behaviors have put you at risk?

How did it feel before and leading up to those choices?

How did it feel during those choices?

How did it feel afterwards?

Share and discuss with a partner on a specific occurrence:

What happened?

Be totally honest: in the moment, did you REALLY chose, or not?

What was your attitude going into the situation?

How did you react and feel afterwards?

What can you say now were your “reasons” for doing this? (Give examples)

Consider The Impact

Reflect on worst case outcomes for each choice above, for you, in your life

Who does this impact, beyond you?

What impact does it have on them? Be specific.

Research the mandated consequences for your choices (see Specific Behaviors below)

What About Influences

What impact did friends have on these choices?

What risky behaviors have you seen your friends practice?

Describe what it is about you or your life that created the likelihood of this happening.

What is it about you that allows or does this?

Making New Choices

How might you recognize these choices and behaviors in the future, before they happen?

Read/hear real-life stories about choices, outcomes, and what other teens discovered

Link to stories online, Group sharing on your own and other people’s stories

Peak Choices: Decision and Power

SIX HOURS of Instruction: (Done individually, with a partner, and/or as a group.)

What is a “Vector”? Describe the Vector Story: how small changes today...
Reflect on “vectors” in your life: small things that eventually made a big difference

Consider the Power of Decisions

Every single action you take is a decision... name three examples.

Positive decisions you’ve made in the past, and what happened

Decisions and Choice: The nature of your own power

Who or what in your life has created challenges for you?

How has that affected you? Be specific. How might you rise above that now?

Name one small way you could shift the vector

Name one large way you could overcome that completely

Reasons: For yourself and for a higher purpose

Putting it Into Practice

Consider one choice or behavior from your “Awareness and Deterrence” Activity...

Name three actions or decisions that would be negative (show examples)

Name three actions or decisions that would be positive (show examples)

If you DO change this vector or if you DON’T change it, where will you end up?

Set an intention, create a goal (show examples)

How will you remind yourself of this every day?

How will you remind yourself of this in the moment, when the opportunity arises?

Peak Choices: Crime and Vandalism FIVE HOURS of Instruction:

Consider Choices and Consequences

Identify the criminal or illegal activities you chose

Investigate the legal and sentencing consequences

Identify current or potential legal issues: costs, sentences, impact on your life

Who was the direct victim and how did you impact them?

Who else did this impact? How might they feel about it? What property?

How would you feel and what would you do if this happened to you?

Learn About What Others Have Been Through

Group sharing and discussion on discoveries

Hear or read stories of incarceration or visit a jail

Reflect on external situations, pressures, or individuals that put you at risk

Reflect on internal attitudes, beliefs, or decisions that put you at risk

Set intention on how to manage future behavior

Peak Choices: Drug and Alcohol SEVEN HOURS of Instruction:

Consider Choices and Consequences

Take a survey of your behaviors and why you made those choices:

Chose three examples and reflect on why

Impact on your health

Impact on your legal status and freedom

Impact on your finances

Impact on your chances for jobs, education, and opportunities

Impact on your self respect

Read or hear others' stories of the nature of addiction and choices

Describe and share your stories of friends, family, or others in your life

Link to online stories

How to Change This Vector

Reaching out	What other resources or assistance are available (if you use them or not)? How have other people sought help successfully?
Made a decision	Refer to Decisions above, who could you reach out to? What decisions could you make now to change your Vector? Make the decision now to make that one small change
Honesty and sharing	If you needed confidential help with this, where would you go? What are you willing to change about you to improve this situation?
Willingness	Knowing where this is leading you, are you willing to shift the Vector? How could get willing or become more willing?
Asking for help	Ask the person or whoever for help Good – this is progress, you have made a Decision, changed a Vector
Maintaining	Use the Decision and Power: what about next time? Remember yourself in a past situation, now envision the future in detail Record how you chose otherwise, how it felt, and decide to continue that
Staying Focused	How will you take of yourself? Finding and using local recovery and support resources

Additional Optional Modules Included with Peak Choices:

Counseling

Jail Visits / Jail Jolt

Community Service

Incarceration, Probation, Detention, Etc.
